OUT &amp; BACK • TURN AROUND ANY TIME

Grinnell Glacier

11.0 mi 7.6 mi 2,181 ft
ON FOOT WITH BOAT GAIN

Climbs the wall above Lake Josephine to Upper Grinnell Lake, right under the glacier and the Salamander. Every viewpoint on the way up is a fine place to stop — go as far as the group wants and turn around.

ADD-ON • SAME TRAIL SYSTEM

Grinnell Lake

+1.8 mi Flat
ROUND TRIP GRADE

Short, level spur off the head of Lake Josephine over the Cataract Creek suspension bridge. Easy to bolt on at the end of the day.

GETTING THERE &amp; BACK

- 1 Drive to Many Glacier and park near the hotel / Grinnell Glacier trailhead.
- 2 Hike out and back. Same trail both directions.
- 3 Drive home from the same lot.

THE BOAT SHORTCUT

- ~ Two short boat rides — across Swiftcurrent Lake, walk a few minutes, then across Lake Josephine — skip 1.7 mi each way. Take it out, back, or both. Ticketed and it sells out; book ahead, and note the last sailing back.

Bear country, and the trail is a ledge. Many Glacier is prime grizzly habitat — carry spray and make noise. The upper traverse is narrow with a long drop, and snow can linger across it well into summer; check trail status at the ranger station.
